

Tom Crean's coaching under fire

College basketball is around the corner and Indiana University men's basketball coach, Tom Crean, has been under fire for his team's performance in the past few seasons. Crean took over the Hoosier basketball program in the 2008 season and had success with turning his team around, except for the past two seasons due to discipline of the players. Under Crean's leadership IU Men's basketball has gone to the NCAA tournament three times.

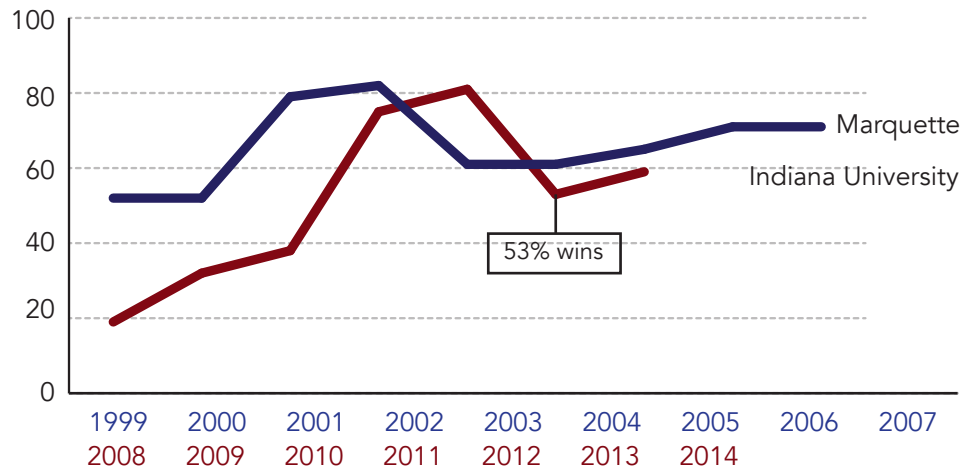

IU mens basketball record by season

Total number of wins and losses

Percent of wins in Crean's career

Percent of wins by season

Crean's overall record with IU

Percent of wins and losses.

