

San Francisco and New York Redefine Coastal Costs

According to data from November 2015, San Francisco, CA surpassed New York, NY for higher cost of living. New York City is one of the most expensive places to live in the US, but San Francisco's wave of technology companies has recently begun to cost San Francisco residents more in rent, groceries, and general consumer prices than their Manhattan counterparts.

Greater Costs for San Francisco

San Francisco rent prices are 23.23% higher than rent prices in Manhattan

San Francisco grocery prices are 24.38% higher than grocery prices in Manhattan

San Francisco consumer prices are 4.87% higher than consumer prices in Manhattan